Executive Summary

We are pleased to present the opportunity to acquire 2222 S. Barrington Avenue—two industrial buildings totaling approximately 14,837 SF — in the highly sought-after West Los Angeles market. These buildings offer exceptional flexibility for an owner-user or investor seeking customizable industrial/flex space. 2216 S Barrington (5,543 SF) could also be included in the sale for a total of 20,290 SF in 3 buildings.

This rare property has been transformed from years of office use back to its original industrial/flex design, making it an ideal space for businesses seeking a highly adaptable environment (design, R&D, automotive showroom, warehousing, storage, etc.). The project offers divisible space options of this project ideally suited for an owner user offers divisible space options of 6,877 SF, 7960 SF or at total of 14, 837 SF. Prominently positioned in West Los Angeles, the buildings provide easy access to major freeways (I-10 and I-405) and numerous local amenities. Key features include high ceilings (11'-15' clear), skylights, concrete flooring, and ground-level loading, accommodating a range of operational needs.

This opportunity comes with significant upside potential. Industrial values in Los Angeles are at the lowest price in the last 10 years. Additionally, although the property is currently used as industrial, it is located in the “New Industry Exposition Corridor” in West LA, which allows flexible zoning. The zoning allows for a wide variety of uses including residential, mixed-use developments, research & development, and hospitality, which bodes well for significant value increase upon market recovery.

With its prime location, adaptable configuration, and strong market demand, 2222 S. Barrington Avenue is a rare and versatile asset for tenants, owner-users, and investors alike.

Strategic Benefits of Investing in the “New Industry Exposition Corridor” Zoning Area

The “New Industry Exposition Corridor” zoning initiative is —an exciting opportunity for forward-thinking investors, developers, and owner/users. This corridor is poised to become a dynamic hub of innovation and growth. The area promotes:

1. High-Growth Investment Zone

The zoning is designed to attract fast-growing sectors like technology, clean energy, media, and life sciences. This focus on emerging industries creates long-term demand for commercial space, driving property appreciation and strong ROI potential.

2. Prime Transit-Connected Location

The corridor runs along the Metro E Line (Exposition Line), offering unmatched access to public transit and key destinations. Properties in this area are highly desirable for both tenants and employers seeking well-connected, car-optional locations.

3. Flexible Land Use Options

Zoning regulations allow a combination of industrial, commercial, and limited residential uses—ideal for adaptive reuse, mixed-use developments, creative office space, and modern live/work environments. Buyers have more flexibility to tailor projects to market trends.

4. Incentives and Development Support

The City is providing streamlined permitting, potential tax incentives, and infrastructure support to stimulate investment. This pro-growth approach reduces development barriers and enhances project feasibility.

5. Strong Long-Term Demand Drivers

With a focus on sustainability, workforce development, and public amenities, the area is designed to attract a skilled workforce and diverse tenants—driving stable, long-term rental demand and community value.

This is a rare opportunity to get in early on a transformative urban corridor.
